We have been with Techwyse for over a decade and could not be happier with their performance. Our account manager Brandon has been incredible, him and his team truly care about our performance and work to build strong campaigns through multiple avenues.

Our biggest challenge with past agencies was simply hearing "increase your budget" to get better results. Techwyse- especially Brandon and Rob have come up with custom tailored strategies to reach our core audiences and dial in our marketing efforts to yield the best results. Another incredible strength is Techwyse' ability to remain relevant in such a dynamic space. Any recommendations for new platforms/ avenues are always thoroughly vetted by their team and only suggested if they truly feel it is a good fit- they sell what will work for you and your business. I can't recommend them enough!

Stevan Cvjetkovich and Manav Bajaj have been pleasant to work with. In an industry where it is common for businesses to sell 'snake oil', TechWyse brings truth in performance.

I've been working with TechWyse for more than 6 months now, and all I can say is that they know what they're doing! Bonnie & Wasim, have both been a pivotal reason for our company's success over the months. They're such a pleasure to work with, and have always gone beyond our expectations. They respond quickly to any new developments, and are always willing to lend a helping hand. Bonnie specifically, have formulated solid strategies for our company to consider. She also provides us with monthly updates on the success of these strategies, and her decisions are ALWAYS based on the extensive analytics she collects. We recently added the SM Management service they provide, and both Kellie and Sara have also been such a pleasure to work with so far, continuously providing great recommendations for us to try out. We're so happy to have come across TechWyse, and definitely don't foresee a future without their help -- Amazing service & fantastic staff over there!

We've been working with Brandon for a while now, and we can confidently say he's one of the best we've had in years. He helps us manage the marketing and SEO for our dental office, Casad Dental, and has been consistently reliable, prompt, and professional.

What really stands out about Brandon is his positive attitude and honest approach. He never pushes us to increase our budget just for the sake of it — instead, he always guides us in the right direction with our best interests in mind. It's clear he genuinely cares about helping our business grow and succeed, and he treats us with fairness and respect.

We truly appreciate all of his hard work and support, and we're lucky to have him on our team. Highly recommend working with Brandon and TechWyse!
